“I created The Diaspora Dialogues platform, so we can connect to correct the cultural divide between Africans from Africa and African descendants in the Diaspora; African-Americans, Afro-Latinos, Afro-Caribbeans, Afro-Europeans. We will ignite the long overdue conversations of prior negative narratives and stereotypes about ourselves. Our intention is to create a better understanding of our different experiences but shared identities to bridge the gap. I am humbled to be supported by The Africa Channel and so many long-time friends and colleagues as I begin this journey.” - Koshie Mills

“We are pleased to be working with Mrs. Mills, a passionate advocate for the African Diaspora, by providing her a platform to engage in these provocative and illuminating conversations. We expect and welcome feedback on our social media platforms once the show begins to broadcast.” - Karen Juve, Head of Programming for The Africa Channel

The Diaspora Dialogues show is a prime-time talk-variety series that showcases the tri-continent experience of African Aficionado Koshie Mills. The show is produced by Koshie Mills for K3 Productions and is aired on The Africa Channel around the country and parts of the Caribbean. The 30-minute weekly series will regularly air every Wednesday night premiering on October 24th at 7:30PM ET / 4:30PM PT.

Can African descendants really connect to Africans in the motherland? That’s the question host, Koshie Mills explores through her new series. The program provides an opportunity to dissect answers to questions like, “Are we cut from the same cloth?” and “Who do you think you are?” The conversation can be contentious at times but ultimately seeks to celebrate the connection between all descendants from Africa whether living on the continent or in the diaspora.

About Koshie Mills:

Best known for her business acumen and being a fierce media strategist, Mills founded her boutique consulting and public relations firm K3PR after aggregating experience in the entertainment industry from almost two decades of managing the careers of her three successful sons who are actors, tastemakers and young moguls within the television and film industries; Kwame Boateng (Everybody Hates Chris, The Plug), Kofi Siriboe (Girls Trip, Queen Sugar) Kwesi Boakye (Colony, Claws).

About The Diaspora Dialogues: The Diaspora Dialogues platform is created by Koshie Mills, whose sole purpose is to connect Africans in the continent and Africans in the Diaspora through a series of innovative, inspirational, entertaining and intimate conversations. The show will invite both parties together on one platform to bridge the gap between the entities. We will connect with entertainers, influencers, local heroes, change agents and artists as guests. Over four 30-minute episodes we explore engaging subject matter which not only has timely relevance but is also uniquely entertaining in its honest approach.
